

TOP FIVE REASONS TO SEND YOUR CHILD ON AN EDUCATIONAL TOUR

1 Classroom Lessons Come to Life

There's no textbook substitute for practicing language lessons with native speakers, immersing oneself in another culture and seeing a piece of history first-hand. ACIS Tour Managers are masters of facilitated learning, weaving their knowledge and stories into the very fabric of the tour so that every moment is educational.

2 Students Learn About Themselves and their Place in the World

Travel builds confidence and self-reliance. Students will realize their ability to thrive in unfamiliar situations, to be open-minded and independent global citizens. And saving towards such an important goal is a valuable lesson in budgeting and money management.

3 It's an Investment in the Future

The experience of educational travel can give students a leg-up in college admissions and future job applications, differentiating them from their peers. It encourages personal growth and builds the international-mindedness needed for success in an increasingly global world.

4 It's a Safe Adventure

With an international, 24-hour support network, financial security, and the industry's best full-time tour managers to handle every on-trip detail, traveling with ACIS is the safest, worry-free way for your child to broaden his or her horizons and have the experience of a lifetime.

5 It's FUN that Lasts a Lifetime

Unforgettable memories will be made. Friendships will be formed. Laughs will be had and amazing photos will be taken. The excitement, sense of awe and joyful remembering years later—these make every minute of planning, every penny saved and spent, just so worth it.

TRAVEL CHANGES LIVES...

JUST ASK FORMER ACIS PARTICIPANT RYAN BRISSENDEN

> Ryan traveled to France with ACIS as a high school senior and went on to earn dual international business exchange degrees through Northeastern University in Boston and NEOMA Business School in Reims, France.

“ Travel takes everything we’ve learned in the classroom and transforms it into something tangible. I found myself a more self-aware, observant person. Suddenly I saw nothing as ‘foreign’, but rather ‘yet to be discovered.’ I would love to live and work in France for some part of my life. My primary goal is to become bilingual, which will present opportunities that as a teenager, I could have only imagined! ”

Now employed by L’Oréal and living in Paris, Ryan credits the ACIS tour with validating his decision to study and work abroad.

acis.com/students/student-stories

Hear more from real students who have traveled with ACIS.

Is your child ready to register? Enrolling online is easy using your group’s customized TripSite. Visit the www.acis.com homepage and enter your Group Leader’s ID and Last Name in the Find Your Trip tool.